In line with the high proportion of people born overseas, in 2013, 15 per cent of residents aged 15 years and over stated that their highest formal education qualification was an overseas secondary school qualification. Over a quarter (26%) had gained a bachelor's degree or higher (in line with the regional figure at 25%).

All data presented here is from the 2013 Census of Population and Dwellings, unless stated otherwise. The census allows respondents to identify with more than one ethnic group, hence the ethnicity percentages may sum to more than 100. 'Business in the local board' data is from Statistics New Zealand's Business Demographic data. School data is provided by Auckland Council, using Ministry of Education information. A school's decile rating indicates the extent to which it draws its students from lower socio-economic communities. Decile 1 schools are the 10 per cent of schools with the highest proportion of such students and decile 10 schools are the 10 per cent of schools with the lowest proportion.
